Summary	London Strategic Housing was established in 2000. Our challenge is to provide a range of affordable accommodation that meets the needs and aspirations of a wide range of key workers and students. In 2002 LSH became the first housing association to register with the Housing Corporation to dedicate itself to the provision of affordable housing for key workers. (Keyworkers are teachers, nurses, police, fire fighters etc). Six month tenancy minimum. One month notice.

Summary	At any point in time, there are hundreds of flats, houses and offices that lie empty in this city. Of course, there are good reasons. Some will be awaiting new owners, some will be vacant before new tenants move in. But whatever the reasons, they are all good buildings that are simply not being used. At Ad Hoc, we work with the owners of these properties to offer affordable short-term living accommodation for young professionals, key workers and students - people just like you. Many of our properties are flats and houses. And for those that aren't - such as office buildings and schools - we provide temporarily facilities, such as dividers, kitchens and bathrooms - making our Guardians feel right at home. It's an innovative approach that is proven to work. You get accommodation at a fraction of the cost that you would normally pay, and property owners get piece of mind, knowing that there are Guardians in their property to keep an eye on it.
